

HOW SILKWORMS DO THEIR WORK

Japanese Exhibit at World's Fair.

Science Aids Busy Little Toiler in Spinning Web for Finest Fabrics.

Eggs Size of Turnip Seed and So Light That It Takes 40,000 to Weigh an Ounce.

Special to The Tribune.

ST. LOUIS, May 24.—Silk from the mulberry-leaf to the finished manufactured product and the most magnificent silk gowns, is shown in every stage in the elaborate and comprehensive exhibits at the World's fair.

Science has stepped in to aid the busy little worm in spinning silk for the finest fabric the world has ever known, by providing the best of mulberry-leaves for the worms. These trees are part of the Japanese silk exhibit, a perfect model of a wormhouse, where great care is given to the valuable little creatures that do so much for mankind.

The tiny silkworm eggs, very like turnip seed, are shown in the silk exhibit.

They are of various colors, and so light in weight that it requires about 40,000 to weigh an ounce. From a single ounce of eggs can be obtained about a hundred pounds of fresh cocoons. The eggs are gathered by experts and wrapped in cloth and paper to be kept until the following season.

Hatch in Six or Seven Days.

Just before the time for the white mulberry-tree to unfold its leaves the eggs are placed in a warm room, where they hatch in six or seven days. The interesting process begins at once. The minute worm comes from its shell with a voracious appetite and is ready for its food. The leaves are plucked from the trees and spread around the room where the young worms can find them.

The feeding period of the silkworm lasts from thirty to forty days, and then comes the moult. The worm sheds its skin and spins a new one. It is then ready to spin the cocoon. The silken thread is spun around and around, forming a wonderful covering of downy softness which no work of man has ever been able to imitate. The worm molts itself in its silken prison and comes from the world the secret of its transformation into a butterfly.

It takes from fifteen to sixteen days for the butterfly or moth to come from the cocoon. The cocoon is then opened and the butterfly is released. The cocoon is then opened and the butterfly is released.

Handling the Cocoons. If the cocoons are raised for silk instead of for the eggs, they must be collected soon after the worms have finished spinning. They are then placed in a temperature of 20 degrees and baked about twelve hours, or else they may be subjected to a bath of steam in a tight box.

After the baking or steaming process the cocoons are dried in the open air. The silk of the cocoon is delicately woven inside and, if properly handled, can be unwound and reeled by hand or machine upon a bobbin. A cocoon contains about 100 yards of silk. This is the result of about six weeks' work of a silkworm, from the egg to the death in the cocoon.

All phases of the silk-making process are shown at the World's fair, where visitors can see the eggs, the hatching process, the spinning of the cocoon and the reeling of the silk. It is one of the most instructive exhibits ever prepared for an exposition, and the care and thoroughness of the Japanese are manifest in every feature of the exhibit.

In this same interesting exhibit are shown the magnificent silks in the place and in kimono gowns, and handkerchiefs made by man from the product of the worm.

WAYS AND MEANS FOR CITY IMPROVEMENT

Problem That Is Now Up to the City Council and the Board of Public Works.

MEMBERS of the Finance committee of the City Council will be invited to meet with the members of the Board of Public Works next Tuesday for the purpose of considering ways and means for the carrying on of needed public improvements in the way of sidewalk, sewer and water main extensions. Under the present state of affairs, the Board of Public Works are practically tied and they can do nothing toward improving the sidewalks or sanitary conditions of the city.

When the attention of the City Council was called to the fact that under the present resolution, adopted last August, it is next to impossible to order needed public improvements, the Council referred the communication back to the board with instructions to make arrangements with the contractors to do the work. The Fernstrom measure provides that no work be ordered until 75 per cent of the tax levied for the proposed improvement has been paid into the city treasury.

The Street and Municipal Law committees have both recommended that the amount to be paid in be decreased to 50 per cent, but as yet the reports have not been acted upon by the Council. A second communication from the Board of Public Works was sent upon the Council the necessity of amending the ordinance so that work can be undertaken as the matter was tabled at the meeting of the Aldermen on Monday night.

Clerk Wilkins of the Board of Public Works has been doing everything in his power to find some way by which the work can be done. In accordance with the action of the Council on the board's first communication relative to the Fernstrom resolution, Mr. Wilkins wrote to the R. S. Blome company of Chicago setting the facts before them and inquiring whether that firm, which has the contract for sidewalk extensions, would be willing to undertake the work before the full 75 per cent of the tax has been paid in. In answer to his communication Mr. Wilkins received a telegram yesterday from the Blome company to the effect that they would be willing to undertake the work as the ordinance is amended making the pavement a lien upon the property.

If this be done the contractor will be willing to commence work when ordered by the board and receive the money as fast as the tax is paid in.

After considering the matter yesterday, the Finance committee conferred with the Finance committee of the Council before accepting the proposition of the Blome company.

Butte Regulars Win Out in Denver

Employees Rockefeller Properties Admitted to Seats in Western Federation Miners' Convention.

DENVER, May 24.—The Western Federation of Miners' convention spent the entire morning over the report of the committee on credentials. The only contest was in the delegation from the Butte regulars. The regular delegates were Joseph J. Gillie and Joseph Corly, J. F. Lyford, Malcolm Gillie and J. B. Stoddan. They are said to be employees of the Rockefeller properties, while the defeated delegation are said to be employed on the Hinz properties. The latter delegation was chosen before the announcement of the postponement of the convention was made.

A new date for the convention was named. The contest was upon the question of the effect of the date of meeting. The action of the Engineers' union in selecting its representatives. It was the sense of the convention that the action of the union had taken to be represented at the convention as first announced, was nullified by the cancellation of the date of holding the convention.

One of the most important acts of the convention thus far was the seating of delegates sent by the United Mine Workers of America, and the American Federation of Labor. Their credentials were read today, and though they have no voting powers, they will be permitted to engage in discussion upon all matters pertaining to labor. This action is significant in that it is the first official recognition of the two organizations given by the Western Federation of Miners since its withdrawal from the American Federation of Labor. Some have the temerity to predict that it will have the effect of causing a complete adhesion of the two great bodies in the near future.

At the afternoon session the reports of Acting President J. C. Williams of California and Secretary-Treasurer Haywood were read. Williams' report consisted mainly of a recital of the strike conditions in Colorado. The secretary's report was very lengthy. It showed that more unions had been organized during the past twelve months than ever before in the same period of time, and that the financial condition of the union was excellent. This in spite of the great drain upon the exchequer by reason of the bitter fight now being waged in Colorado. Within the organization there are now 250 locals, and thousands of members.

NEWSBOY KILLS MAN WITH BRICK

Cried "Extra, Murder" When Arrested.

Sold Papers Telling of Crime Which He Had Committed.

Begged Officers to Allow Her to Sell Out Before Being Placed in Prison.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 24.—"Extra, extra, full account of the murder. Yes, I'll go with you, but wait a minute. Extra, there you are, sir! Yes I know what you want me for, sir! For hitting Mahr with a brick, but just wait till I sell out! These were the exclamations shouted by James Lambdin, a sixteen-year-old newsboy when the police captured him for the killing of Louis F. Mahr, aged 24 years, an account of whose death Lambdin was selling.

Mahr was assaulted in front of a Chicago restaurant in North Frederick street by a crowd of young men, one of whom threw a brick which struck Mahr on the head. The injured man walked to the City hospital, and after having the injury dressed reported the assault to the Central police station. He afterward walked home and went to bed. There the young man died 6 o'clock this morning without regaining consciousness.

The police were notified and they went to work in an effort to locate Lambdin. After several hours spent in searching the city the young man was arrested at Bank and Wolfe streets by Sergeant Scott and Lancaster. The youth was selling papers containing the news of Mahr's death.

When approached by the police Lambdin was disconcerted. "I know what you want me for, for striking Mahr with a brick," he said. "The police think the boy and man had a quarrel in a Chinese restaurant over a girl."

"Iniquity of Mormonism"

The Presbyterian General Convention Heartily Commends Work of Women in Their Campaign.

BUFFALO, May 24.—The work of the Presbyterian general convention consisted of a consideration of home missions, the report of the standing committee being presented by Rev. John F. Carson of Brooklyn, chairman of the committee. The report dwelt upon the desirability of the Presbyterian church pursuing a more systematic course in the matter of home missions, and advocated a union of efforts among the church to that end.

The necessity of extending home mission work was emphasized, with particular reference to strengthening the work among the Mormons. As part of the report Dr. Carson stated that "we heartily commend the work of the Christian women of all denominations in carrying on so successful a campaign against the iniquity of Mormonism."

The afternoon session was devoted to the report of the standing committee on aid for colleges and a discussion of the subject of college education. A matter of general interest to members of the church is the conclusion reached by the committee to raise $12,000,000, with which to endow colleges, especially the weaker ones in the West. The report recommended the union of the board of aid for colleges and the endowment committee under the name of "college board," and the removal of the headquarters of the board from Chicago to New York.

At today's session reports from the board of standing committees were received, and a number of addresses were made by men who have devoted their lives to the amelioration of economic conditions in this country. The report shows the amount of money received this year was $520,000. The amount needed for next year's work is $1,000,000.

The report says that arrangements have been made by an international commission to fittingly celebrate the centennial of the Louisiana Purchase at St. Louis October 29 and 30 and November 1, and the committee recommended that all national churches of every name throughout the country shall observe Sunday, October 30, as a day of thanksgiving and rejoicing for what has been done "in bringing the West to the knowledge and obedience of Jesus Christ, and a day of consecration to renewed efforts to carry on the work, so gloriously begun." It is urged that one feature be a special offering for the work of the board of missions, and that especially the churches west of the Mississippi river which have been planted during the century shall recognize the occasion with a special offering of thanksgiving. The report was unanimously adopted.

Tonight there was a popular meeting of the commissioners at the Central Presbyterian church. Rev. Robert M. Craig of New Mexico and Rev. Albert F. Coyne of Colorado, former moderator, spoke.

Search in Vain for Dr. Flower

Under Bonds to Appear in Court to Stand Trial on Five Indictments.

NEW YORK, May 24.—It was announced tonight that detectives from the District Attorney's office have been searching in vain for Dr. J. C. Flower, who is under bonds to appear in the Court of General Sessions tomorrow to stand trial on five indictments charging grand larceny in connection with the failure of the Arizona, Eastern & Montana Ore Development Mining company. For some time he has been out on $23,000 bail, furnished by Mrs. Cornelius Storrs, widow of the late Deputy Comptroller.

Dr. Flower's counsel during his present troubles have been John Dos Passos and Howe & Hummel. When word came that Dr. Flower could not be found in the city, Assistant District Attorney Garvan, who has charge of the prosecution, came here and admitted that they had been in communication with him for some time and did not know his present whereabouts. He said that he was exceedingly anxious to have Dr. Flower, and a bench warrant will issue for his arrest.

Baptists Condemn Mormon Church

Home Missionary Society Unanimously Adopts Resolutions Denouncing Attitude of Hierarchy.

CLEVELAND, O., May 24.—The Baptists put themselves on record with the other great Protestant denominations by the action taken on the divorce question at the meeting of the American Baptist Home Mission society today. The following resolution on the subject was unanimously passed, with applause:

"Whereas, there is a general movement among the churches of the country in which we are deeply interested, and with which we are in warm sympathy, looking toward the protection of the sanctity of the marriage relations; and

"Whereas, our church policy being purely congregational, does not allow us to take action as some other churches, enjoining either our churches or ministers in this matter, yet we desire to place on record our united opinion and firm conviction, first, that the courts ought to have a uniform law on the subject of divorce, based upon scriptural teachings, and second, the Christian ministers and Christian churches of all names ought to be at all times, and especially in these times, courageous and positive in their adherence to the instructions of the scripture concerning the marriage relation."

Besides the resolution on divorce, the Baptist Home Missionary society unanimously adopted resolutions condemning Mormonism. The resolutions were adopted after a strong speech by Rev. Bruce Kinney, general missionary of the society in Utah. Mr. Kinney is of the belief that the present generation will see the finish of polygamy, and that Mormonism is losing ground. The resolution follows:

"Whereas, the recent investigation at Washington has revealed the un-American and lawless attitude of the Mormon hierarchy; and

"Whereas, the officers in Utah are either inert or powerless to enforce the laws against polygamy and polygamist cohabitation, be it therefore

"Resolved, That we, as representatives of the Baptist Home Missionary society, in annual meeting assembled, express our sincerest sympathy with all remedial measures now being put forth, be it further

"Resolved, That we express our hope that the Smoot investigation may be most thorough, and that if sufficient ground is found, Mr. Smoot be removed from his seat.

"Resolved, That we also petition Congress to take such action as may be proper looking toward a Constitutional amendment, giving Congress law-making power in all matters pertaining to marriage and divorce."

Invitations to hold next year's anniversary were received from Portland, Or., and St. Louis. The decision was left to the executive board of the three societies. It is probable that St. Louis will be chosen.

The anniversaries were ended tonight by a mass meeting in the Euclid Avenue Baptist church.

Mother Leaps Into Deep Well

Makes Unavailing Effort to Save Life of Her Boy, Who Fell Into the Water.

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., May 24.—Mrs. Michael Byrnes, wife of a Standard Oil company engineer at Kneppers, visited Prof. Funk's family at Mont Alto today. Her son Andrew, aged 7 years, was playing around the edge of the cover of a well forty feet deep and fell into it. His mother saw him fall, and, running to the well, jumped in after the boy in an effort to save him. Both were gotten out in fifteen minutes, but the boy was dead.

Recovers Valuable Block of Property

Decision of Portland Court Restores a Million Dollars to P. A. Marquam.

PORTLAND, Or., May 24.—Judge Alfred F. Sears in the State Circuit court today rendered a decision restoring to P. A. Marquam a block of property in this city valued at $1,000,000. Marquam was the original owner of the property, but became financially embarrassed, and the property was sold at a delinquent tax sale to the Title Guaranty & Trust company. It afterward appeared that the title company had been acting as the agent of Marquam, but through a second party had purchased the Marquam property in his own right. This action Judge Sears holds to be illegal, and the property is thus restored to Marquam, the original owner. The decision of Judge Sears exonerates the title company of wilful wrongdoing in the transaction.

School Vell Greet President

President Welcomed at Groton by Cheers From Students at the School.

GROTON, Mass., May 24.—President Roosevelt, who had made the trip from Washington, to be present at the Groton school today and participated in the annual prize day exercises, reached Groton at 5 minutes past 9 this morning. He was met at the railway station by the Rev. Endicott Peabody, principal of the institution at which two of the President's sons, Theodore, Jr., and Kermit, are preparing for college, and was driven to the school.

As the President's carriage appeared in the grounds the school veil, given with all the enthusiasm which the occasion prompted, greeted the President. The carriage stopped at the residence of Dr. Peabody and the President quickly walked over to the hall where the students had assembled to return their greetings. He said that he was exceedingly glad to meet and greet them and provoked a laugh by saying:

"I deeply sympathize with the two unfortunates among you who have a Presidential father."

The President then returned to the Peabody residence where he remained until 11:30, when the exercises of prize day were scheduled to begin in the main hall.

There was some delay in beginning the exercises, due chiefly to the desire to await the arrival of parents and friends of the students.

Dr. Peabody made a brief address, instructing the President, in which he said: "We like him as a parent, we admire him as a President and we love him as a man."

The audience rose to receive the President. In addressing the students, the President gave what he called "homey heart-to-heart talk with the boys."

In his remarks the President said that if a boy had not pluck, common sense and decency he was a pretty bad sort and a man without these qualities was even worse. He admonished them that they must not in any degree become "prigs," and urged them to be strong, to be decent, and to be resourceful. "Boys and men," he said, "possessing such qualities will not be crushed by more in social and civil life worse creatures than snobs, but no creature is more contemptible."

The President referred to the advantages of training in public schools, which training, he believed, was most beneficial because of the democracy of the institutions. The President alluded to the athletics of modern school life, saying that he believed in athletics and sports and in the spirit which is back of them.

President Presents Prizes.

At the conclusion of the President's address Dr. Peabody announced that President Roosevelt would present the prizes. The boys who had won honors during the year were called to the platform and President Roosevelt shook hands with each one and passed him the prize. In most cases a secretary, President Roosevelt, and Secretary Loeb left for Washington at 5:22 this evening. The train will make the return trip by way of Worcester and Springfield to the Poughkeepsie bridge and over the Pennsylvania road to Washington.

Clowry Entitled to All the Credit

Western Union Directors Back Him Up in His Fight on Pool-rooms.

NEW YORK, May 24.—Actuated by the belief that the attitude of President Clowry and other Western Union officials has been misrepresented and misunderstood in the poolroom controversy, Jacob H. Schiff, head of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and a Western Union director, today made the following statement:

"Prior to reaching home last Tuesday I knew almost nothing about this matter, but was soon in possession of the facts. I had an interview the following morning with Morris K. Jessup, whom I found very much exercised over the situation, but who gave me the assurance that 'Soon after my interview with Mr. Jessup I attended the executive meeting of the Western Union company. I found President Clowry in waiting, and he immediately submitted for their approval the order he had already promulgated, stopping on his own responsibility, and without consulting me, such a statement is without truth.'"

"I can only repeat that President Clowry, in the instance of the poolroom, could not and Mr. Jessup, deserves the credit, in my judgment, for having done with such promptness what was properly demanded by public opinion."
